

Save the Date! What I Wish I Knew: Six "Seasoned" Women Public Administration Professors Reflect on Life in the Academy

Wednesday, March 22, from 12:45 to 1:45 (EST).

Six “seasoned” women professors will reflect on what they wish they knew at the beginning of their careers and will respond to questions. Examples include: How to navigate work-life ‘balance’; How to survive a tough work environment; How to maintain your sanity; How to establish your own research agenda (not theirs); the politics of citations; how to navigate discrimination; how to decide when to say yes and when to say no; Career decisions—staying put vs. moving on . . . and much, much more!

Please join us for this mentoring session at the online national conference of the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA)

Convener/Moderator: Rosemary O’Leary, Distinguished Professor, University of Kansas

Panelists:

Lisa Blomgren Amsler, Distinguished University Professor, Indiana University
Kirk Emerson, Professor of Practice, University of Arizona
Susan Gooden, Dean, Virginia Commonwealth University
Mary Guy, Distinguished Professor, University of Colorado-Denver
Norma Riccucci, Distinguished Professor, Rutgers University

This is a session at the ASPA National Conference.

Please register for the ASPA National Conference to join this one hour webinar:

<https://www.aspanet.org/Conference2023/Conference2023/Event-Details/Registration2023.aspx?hkey=d31b0990-9eeb-499e-8da7-40d81c8b716c>